use of a large amount of money is a bank? What portion of the business of the country is carried on in National money? In England it is only five per cent. Ninety-five per cent is by drafts, checks and commercial bills. In this country not less than ninety per cent is carried on by the different banks. Our present system is secured in its circulation and under the complete control of the law, and it would be a great misfortune to go back to the old system which prevailed before the war. Then if a man wished to take any paper money he used to study the bank note reports. If a merchant in the West wished to come East to trade, he was obliged to sort out his notes before he started. Money from any State would not circulate in more than half the States in the Union. How many men in this audience have taken out their pocketbooks in the last six months to see what bank their bills were on? You don't care for the bank under the National system. You know that behind every bill is one hundred cents locked up in the Treasury of the United States to pay for it. You don't care if the bank is broken, burned up, or if a hundred pounds of nitro-glycerine tear the bank building to atoms. The value of your bill is the same. [Enthusiastic applause.]

Now, another point I wish to make fellow citizens, is that resumption is so near it would be a crime to stop. We are almost on the shore. We have been tossed these many long years in the storm of paper money. It has hampered our industries, shaken our confidence, robbed our poor men, ruined our manufacturers. It has been the cause of all the wicked and wretched business of gambling in gold. Resumption of specie payments ends gold speculation forever, for it rests only on the difference between paper and gold. Now we are almost out of the tempest. One good, bold stroke and our feet will stand upon the rock; and the enemies of resumption would plunge us back into the shoals and bottomless sea. In the name of the public peace, in the prospect of returning prosperity, in the name of the sufferings of the past, the Republican party demands that the work of resumption shall not be hindered. Nothing can now hinder it but a violation of the law.

Now, fellow-citizens, I have detained you long on these topics, but there is one other phase. We have passed through a long period of darkness, but in that darkness there has been some compensation. Men tell us there were good times in 1865 and on till 1870. Where were they? What was happening in those years? In 1865 this country was running in debt at a rate never known before. I do not mean the Nation as a Government, but the Nation as a people. Do you know that to our trade with Europe we bought 1,017 millions more in merchandise from Europe than we sent back to pay for it? Our people as individuals ran in debt more than a thousand million dollars abroad. They were also running in debt at home. It was the result of the speculation which inflated always brings. Everything rested upon credit. We were expanding municipal credit, and were enlarging individual credits everywhere. The personal and corporate frauds, the National, but since the calamity of 1873 struck us, have been quietly and determinedly paying our debts. In the last five years we have sold abroad more than 200 millions more than we have bought at home. We are paying our debts. We are clearing away our wrecks. We are getting the business of this country on its feet, and now it only fears that the black shadow of Congress may blot it out of place. We want it to stand away from us. Old Diogenes was right when he told Alexander that all that he wanted was that he should stand out of his sunlight. Let not the shadow destroy the returning confidence. Some say that we have made the mistake of the French, and that the result is false in theory, in fact, it is false in practice. "Prove it, prove it," I will prove it. [Applause.] On the first day of September, 1872, there was more paper money afloat in this country than at any other time for six years. The panic struck us when we were at the full tide of our paper volume. [Applause at the quick proof.]

THE GREAT ISSUES.

reasonable men. [Now, what are the objections, if there are any? Let us state them and consider them. My first objection to that proposition is that it is a violation of the pledged promise and faith of this Nation, that it will never increase the greenbacks above four hundred million. If you do that thing, you increase them to six hundred and seventy million. [A voice, "Too thin?"] Is good faith too thin for you? [Applause and laughter.] You are too thin for an able bodied, honest man. [Applause.] Suppose that trouble to be got over; suppose there were no obstacle in the way of the public faith, I repeat another objection to it. If you issue three hundred and twenty-four million more of greenbacks on the top of the three hundred and forty six millions now out, you make redemption impossible; and all who believe in the resumption of specie payments ought to be opposed to it for that reason. Now, why do I say that? The United States Treasury can now resume specie payments on the promised day. [Applause.] It can do it sooner. In 1875 we were told that we could not resume, that we could not get the gold to resume, that the moment we tried to accumulate the coin it would increase the value of the coin and decrease the value of the greenback. But in the face of all Cassandra prophecies we have accumulated, and have today in the Treasury of the United States, unpledged for any other purpose, one hundred and thirty-five millions of coin, waiting to secure the resumption or redemption of our greenbacks. [A voice: "Looking into the future." "Certainly." "Looks something to be honest." "Loud applause and cheers for Garfield." In the next place, while this has been accumulating, the value of our greenback has been going up constantly from thirteen per cent discount, when the law was passed, till to-day, in the markets of America, our greenback was worth ninety-nine and three-fourths cents on a dollar. [Applause.]

Now, there is another objection that I have to abolishing the National banks and substituting greenbacks. We have the National banks in a shape where they pay a good share of taxes, and I am glad of it. They ought to pay. [Applause.] Since their organization they have paid over two hundred millions of taxes to the State and Nation. Last year they paid sixteen millions of dollars in taxes, nine to the States and seven to the Nation. Their stock is taxed by the States; their circulation is taxed by the Nation; their deposits are taxed by the Nation, and the man that holds his money in National bank notes on the day of assessment is taxed on his surplus cash that he holds. How is it with the greenbacks? They are not taxed. There are already $346,000,000 of paper money in this country that escapes taxation altogether. The rich man can gather them to his hands on the day of assessment, and escape taxes altogether by doing it. Now the substitution you talk of will lose us seventeen millions a year to the States and Federal treasuries, and would take three hundred and twenty-four millions more of paper out of the reach of taxation--a thing fairly out of the comprehension of I object to it for that reason.

Another objection is that the National bank notes are the only portion of our financial machinery that gears the supply of currency on to the laws of demand and supply. It is a self-adjusting method of currency. No man is wise enough to tell how much we need, and it men were wise enough, dare you trust it to a partisan House of Representatives?

Suppose another thing, fellow citizens. If you abolish the National bank system you leave it to the mercy of brokers. The banking business of America is necessary to its real prosperity. Do you know that one of the modern devices for avoiding the

How a Railroad King Travels.
At half past 9 o'clock this morning (Monday) a special train from Saratoga arrived at the Union Depot, Troy, consisting of three special horse cars containing the horses and equipment of William H. Vanderbilt and the private drawing room car of that gentleman. This superb coach is called the Vanderbilt, made with every possible improvement, and is probably the finest establishment of the kind in existence. The trucks are mounted on spoked paper wheels, with exceptionally fine journals. The outside is painted a light orange color. On the sides are four scenes, painted in oil colors, one representing the Grand Central Depot, another depicting the falls at Niagara, another the great Fourth Avenue tunnel, and the other the massive bridge between Greenbush and Albany. The car is sumptuously fitted up inside with lounge, easy chairs, desk and sleeping berths. The upholstery and furniture are regal in style, and made of the most costly material. In the rear is a covered platform, with large windows on either side, on which some ladies are seated, viewing the scenery along the route. The Vanderbilt and family and five friends. The run from Saratoga to Troy—thirty-two miles—was made in fifty-two minutes, and the time from this city to New York—160 miles—was to have been three hours and twenty-five minutes, or at the rate of fifty miles an hour, including a stoppage at Poughkeepsie to examine and oil the wheels. As soon as the train reached this city one of the most trusted conductors of the Hudson River Railroad approached the rear platform, where Mr. Vanderbilt had stepped out, touched his hat, received a bow of recognition, and asked the question, "All ready?" The railroad magnate replied, "Yes," the signal to the engineer was given, and the train moved on—Troy Times.

An Ingenious Saloonist.
The officers of the law in Portland, Maine, the other day, in making a search for illegitimate liquor in a certain saloon in that city, by the merest accident discovered an ingenious tank for concealing the liquor, which has successfully defied detection for two years. An archway over a flight of stairs had been filled in with a wide tank, which at the top and thin at the bottom. This tank was divided into two equal parts, one half filled with gin and the other with rum. The top of the tank was thick, so that when anybody trod on the floor above it would not break. From either end of the archway rubber pipes passed through the wall to a room below, and there met in a casing in the wall. A spring in the casing opened a small door where two little faucets were revealed, from which the rum and gin could be drawn off. The casing and wall was thick, plastered, whitened and painted, so as to conceal the contraband arrangement.

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 19, 1878.

CITY AND COUNTY.

BRIEFLETS.

—Showery.
—Prayer meeting night.
—The dust got thundering wet to-day.
—The Janesville Guards will choose some non-commissioned officers to-night.
—There will be a number of changes in the church choir about the first of October.
—The cooper shops are doing a staving business, and the boys are "hoopin it up" lively.
—The afternoon train from Chicago to-day was detained here for about an hour, the engine being out of order.
—If the Court House grounds could but tell all they know, they would unfold many tales of evening strollers. 'Tis better the truth were not spoken.
—The Janesville Guards will at an early day have a private drill on the fair ground, where they will have room enough for all the evolutions which they may desire to try.
—J. B. Doe, Esq., and wife, Rev. J. W. McLean, Messrs. Willson H. Doe and J. B. Doe, Jr., of Janesville, Wisconsin, are registered at the Hoff House.—Winona Republican.
—Cold weather may stiffen the mortuaries and stop their hum, but neither cold nor heat seems to affect the voices of the feline howlers who occupy the roof of the wood-shed.
—The Fire Department received to-day a hydraulic pump from the Caswell Coupling Company, of Chicago, to be used in testing hose, it being capable of putting on 600 pounds pressure.
—Marshal Keating has recovered some more silverware belonging to the Whitewater parties who were burglarized by "Scratchy" Nash. The recovered property this time consists of a silver cup and three asphalt rings.
—Great joy was caused last night in the family of Mr. E. Joy, the night engineer of the cotton factory, who lives in the Fourth ward, the occasion being the advent of a little Joy. A pretty name for the girl is next in order.
—The employees of the Shoe Factory together with some of their friends, will indulge in a merry dance to-morrow night. Tackwood's Band furnishes the music, and all arrangements have been completed for an enjoyable occasion.
—It is expected that during the session of the Methodist conference at Fort Atkinson the first week of October, there will be some of the ablest men in that body sent hither to supply the Methodist pulpits on the Sunday of conference week.
—Mrs. Rogers, the mother of Conductor Rogers, of the Madison division, died a day or two ago at Elroy, and her remains were to-day brought to this city for interment beside the remains of her husband, who died in this city several years ago.
—The musicians are trying to arrange for the production of an Opera Bouffe in this city, but as yet nothing is permanent settled upon, and cannot be until answers are received to letters which have been written to parties in Milwaukee and Chicago.
—Mr. Wagner, of Milton, whose gold watch and chain was stolen the other day, has recovered the missing property. It was found buried in some dirt in a blacksmith shop, where it had evidently been hidden by the thief, to be removed when a good opportunity presented itself. The watch and chain was valued at about $150.
—Prof. Hersee arrived in the city to-day, carrying as usual all the instruments necessary for taking the insides out of a piano, and putting them back again in regulated condition. During the State fair at Madison, thieves entered his boarding place, stole his hat and his bag of tools, together with some clothing belonging to fellow-boarders, but they wisely concluded the tools were of no use to them and left them under a tree near by, where they were found and restored to the owner.
—Mr. Arthur H. Conant, son of Mr. M. Conant started this morning for Atchinson, Kansas, where he will hereafter reside. He has been engaged as book-keeper, for Fowler Brothers, one of the largest and most successful packing firms in the United States, having extensive branches in Atchinson, Chicago, New York City and Manchester, England. Arthur is equal to the position which has been fortunately tendered him and will prove a trustworthy, industrious, and capable book-keeper. His habits are far above reproach, and his integrity and aptitude in business will win the confidence of his employers, and many friends in Atchinson.
—It is with regret that we chronicle the removal of Mr. Peter Schmitz, of Harmony, to Grand Prairie, Lyon county, Minnesota, where he will hereafter make his home. Mr. Schmitz came to Rock county in 1849, and settled in Harmony, where he has since resided. He is an energetic, well-informed farmer, and has always commanded the respect and friendship of the best men in this county. While not a politician or an office seeker he has been entrusted with the management of many of the interests of his town, and has filled from time to time the office of Supervisor, Town Clerk, and Assessor, and has filled them to the satisfaction of all. It is to be regretted that he has decided to make Minnesota his home, yet while many friends will part with him with regret their best wishes will go with him.

THE WEATHER.

The thermometer at 7 o'clock this morning stood at 67 degrees above zero, and at 2 o'clock this afternoon at 68 degrees above. Frequent showers. In the afternoon a heavy thunder shower came up from the northwest attended by considerable wind. One year ago to-day at corresponding hours the thermometer stood at 53 and 71 degrees above.

The indications today are, for the lake region, increasing warmer northward to southwest winds, falling barometer, partly cloudy weather, local rains possibly developing into storms in the upper Mississippi and lower Missouri valleys, warmer, southerly winds, falling barometer and partly cloudy weather.

Mrs. Polly Goodrich died at her residence in Milton, last night. The funeral services will take place at the Seventh Day Baptist Church in that place, Saturday, the 21st inst., at 11 o'clock a. m.

LIFE INSURANCE A GOOD INVESTMENT.

One of our prominent merchant's took Policy No. 6891 for $1000, September 13th, 1867, payable in 11 years, or at death if it occurred in less than 11 years, in the Mutual Life Insurance Co. of N. Y., annual premium $86.73, with Mr. H. M. Hart, their resident agent, and the 13th inst. check was sent Mr. Hart for $1362.55, being $508.52 more than the 11 annual premiums which amount to $854.03.
The assets of the Mutual Life at the time that policy was issued, were $23,995,057. At the present time they are over $55,000,000, the Company having increased over $31,000,000 in 11 years. The Company were liable to pay $1000 as soon as the policy was issued, and besides affording the protection, have invested the premiums, so as to return them with a good rate of interest.

A FOOTVILLE FIRE.

On Tuesday night Patrick McMahon, of Footville, met with a serious loss, all of his grain, which was in stacks, being destroyed by fire. Five of the stacks were situated near his house, while the others were located about three-quarters of a mile distant. The fact that they all burned about the same time, gives rise to the suspicion that it was the work of an incendiary. The grain was insured for $300 in the American of Chicago, of which Dr. A. M. Mowe, of this city, is the agent.

HOUSE BREAKING AT ROCK.

During the temporary absence of the family, while attending the Rock County Fair, the house of Mr. Benjamin Bleasdale, was broken into, the thieves effecting an entrance through a window, and then bursting open the inner door by means of a chopping axe, thus showing them to be very crude artists in their calling. All the property found to have been taken was an overcoat belonging to Mr. Bleasdale, and an entire suit of clothes, which he had just purchased for his son, who is only about 12 years old. If they will send their address, Mr. B. will be happy to call on them.

A RUNAWAY.

Yesterday afternoon a team belonging to Mr. Barlass, of Harmony, took a lively run up Washington street. Mr. Barlass' hired man had just gone into the warehouse at the foot of Washington street and left a small boy in the wagon, when the horses became frightened and started on the run. In front of Mr. Botsford's house, the team ran into a tree and freed themselves from the wagon. The horses were stopped near Carpenter & Godely's coal yard. The damage was small.

RALLY OF PRESBYTERIANS.

TIPS FROM THE BAT.

The Buffalo club defeated the Providence nine yesterday by 9 to 4. The game was loosely played on both sides.

The Peoria Reds scored 12 yesterday and the Dubuque only one.

At Detroit yesterday, in an exhibition game played by the Becons and Chicago, the former scored 2 and the latter 12.

The Indianapolis and Chicago are to play in Chicago this afternoon and next Saturday. The Chicago club will contain all the players engaged for that club next year, except two, Williamson, who will play with the other nine, and the ninth man who is yet a dark horse.

INSTITUTE FOR THE BLIND.

Already sixty-five pupils of the Institute of the Blind have arrived and others are expected during the next few days. The number now here with those old students who are yet to come, together with the new applicants, will reach between eighty and ninety, which will be something of an increase over last year.

A FOOL FROM WISCONSIN.

Ruby Bell goes down the gilded and gilded ladder that leads to destruction very fast. The strawberry blonde appendage queen of "Biller" avenue seems to have cut the last thread linking her to any semblance of respectability, and crimes follow so close on each other's heels with her that the police are kept busy. Last evening she entrapped Peter Klein, an unsophisticated German granger from Sharon, Wisconsin, and he emerged short $205 hard-earned money. He "kicked" in a manner that would have done credit to a Texas steer, and Ruby was taken in. This morning she waived an examination and was held in $600 bail to the Criminal Court by Justice Sumnerfield.—Chicago Evening Jour.

WATER WORKS.

All citizens interested in the matter of water works for this city, are requested to meet at the Common Council rooms Saturday, September 21st, at 7:30 p. m. The Committee appointed at the last citizens meeting, held in Lappin's hall, will then present their report. Let there be a large attendance. PR. SY. NORMAN, Chairman.

Fast Superstition.

The Unique Perfumes of Dr. Price are fast superseding all others. Their fresh, flowing fragrance is admired by all who use them. For an evening party his Alister Bouquet is captivating; while for the parlor, church or concert, his Pet Rose is the most delightful odor.

LOCAL MATTERS.

Beyond the Reach of Human Skill.

Is the power to restore the hair to bald heads when the bulbs at the roots are destroyed by age or disease; but there are doubtless many persons becoming bald, whose hair by careful attention might be restored to its original luxuriance and beauty. Parker's Hair Balsam is an elegant preparation, designed to meet the public want for a harmless hair dressing and restorative. It acts like magic, commencing at the very roots, removes Dandruff and all humors from the scalp, and never fails to restore gray or faded hair to the original color, and the soft, rich and glossy appearance of youth. By its occasional use the falling of the hair is immediately checked, and a luxuriant and beautiful growth of young hair induced. The exquisite perfume and the purity of its composition are highly appreciated, and as it is not a dye and does not stain the skin or clothing, it is a growing favorite of the toilet table everywhere. Buy a bottle from your druggist A. J. Robert's, Janesville, Wis., and test its merits. jy30cdwlysept3
